picture paints a thousand words, then why can't I paint man could be two places at one time, I'd be with you? The words will never show the you I've come to know.

you; tomorrow and today, beside you all the way...

If a face could launch a thousand ships, then where am I to go?

If the world should stop revolving, spinning slowly down to die...

There's no one home but you.

I'd spend the end with you.

You're all that's left me

And when the world was
